

Woodward & Lothrop,
New York. WASHINGTON. Paris.

Chinaware, Glassware, Lamps, and Modern Housefurnishings For the Summer Home.

WE ARE holding our annual sale of China and Glassware for the summer home, and we are offering unusual values in China, Glassware, Lamps, and Modern Housefurnishings.

June Cut Glass Clearance Sale.

We are offering exceptional values in choice quality Cut Glass. Notwithstanding the prices are low, the goods are all high grade and strictly perfect. This sale affords the best possible opportunity to secure brilliant Cut Glass for June wedding gifts or for the home, ranging in price from $1.00 to $7.50.

We quote a few items and invite inspection.

|                                           | Were.   | Now.    |
|-------------------------------------------|---------|---------|
| Brilliant Cut Glass Napkins...            | $8.50  | $5.00  |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Ice Cream Trays...    | $12.50 | $10.00 |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Fruit Stands...       | $7.50  | $5.00  |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Footed Punch Bowls... | $50.00 | $37.50 |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Flower Vases...       | $15.00 | $10.00 |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Rose Buds...          | $25.00 | $17.50 |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Rose Bowls...         | $15.00 | $12.50 |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Bells...              | $8.00  | $5.00  |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Mayonnaise Bowls...   | $5.00  | $3.95  |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Cruets...             | $2.50  | $1.95  |
| Brilliant Cut Glass Ice Tubs...           | $7.00  | $5.00  |

Dainty China

Wedding Gifts.

Many one-of-a-kind pieces that cannot be duplicated, dainty creations of original design and artistic execution; pieces that bespeak the good taste alike of the donor and recipient.

$1.00 to $5.00 piece.

Summer Cottage

Dinner Sets.

|                                                      |                |
|------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| 10-piece Decorated American Porcelain Dinner Sets... | $6.95 and up  |
| 10-piece Decorated English Porcelain Dinner Sets...  | $12.50 and up |
| 10-piece Decorated German China Dinner Sets...       | $15.00 and up |
| 10-piece Decorated French China Dinner Sets...       | $20.00 and up |

Also more than eighty choicely decorated open-stock patterns, from which you can select just the pieces you want without paying for those that are of no use to you.

New Decorated

Toilet Sets.

Especially attention is invited to our comprehensive exhibition of Toilet Sets, complete, with covered soap jar, at $5.00 per set.

Other sets, $1.95 to $18.00.

Lamp Department.

We are prepared to meet all requirements in Lamp Goods, be they for new pieces or repairs. Especial provision is made at this season of the year for summer home wants.

|                                                                                                        |                   |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|
| Nickel Candle Lamps, with reflectors, each...                                                          | $1.50 and $1.65 |
| Nickel Oil Lamps, with reflectors, each...                                                             | $1.75            |
| Candle Lanterns, complete with chimney, each...                                                        | 15c               |
| "B. & H." Lamps, in nickel and brass, complete with wick, shade, glass, complete with chimney, each... | $1.00 and up     |
| Glass Lamps, complete with chimney, each...                                                            | 25c and up        |

Complete stock of Hanging Lamps for halls and dining rooms. Wicks for all burners.

Decorated Pitchers

For Table Use.

Assorted shapes, sizes, and decorations. Choice, 25c each.

Step Ladders.

Strong, reliable, well made. From 3 to 10 feet in height.

45c each, upward.

Lawn Mowers.

Reliable in construction and operation. These Mowers have been used by us for a number of years, and knowing their merits, we are willing to guarantee them. High and low wheels, plain or ball-bearing, according to price. A very excellent Mower at $2.25 each.

Others up to $9.00 each.

Lawn Mower Sharpeners, 25c.

Garden Tools.

|                             |     |
|-----------------------------|-----|
| Trowels, upward from...     | 5c  |
| Shovels, upward from...     | 10c |
| Grass Rakes, upward from... | 15c |
| Water Poles, upward from... | 25c |

"Colonial" Extra

Fancy Creamery Butter.

Comes only to us in Washington. It is emphatically unlike the various grades of butter to be had almost anywhere. In a word, it is the best butter we are able to buy.

It appeals especially to those who are particular and really appreciate an unusual quality. In sanitary packages.

Pound, 35c. 5 lbs., $1.70.

Fifth floor.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Miss Glenn Weds John D. McMullin, of Philadelphia.

JUNE NUPTIALS CONTINUE

Miss Mary Price and Joseph N. Hornbaker Married—Society Members Sail for Europe—Dinner by Ambassador and Mrs. Reid to Mrs. Benjamin Harrison in London.

A quiet wedding of last evening, but one of unusual beauty in appointment, was that which took place from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Doughty Nourse, at Crescent, Woodley lane and Connecticut avenue, when their cousin, Miss Charlotte Seawell Glenn, of Baltimore, was married to Mr. John D. McMullin, of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed at St. Alban's Church, at 6:30 o'clock, Rev. Edward B. Niver officiating, assisted by Rev. C. F. Bratenahl, rector of the church.

A simple arrangement of palms and white cut flowers decorated the pretty little chancel of the church, and throughout the ceremony soft music floated over the small assemblage of relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom. There was no best man, and Mr. McMullin had for his ushers Mr. James M. Crowell and Mr. Clinton Maloney, of Philadelphia. Miss Grace Keetch, of Baltimore, was the maid of honor. Mr. Stirling Glenn, of Baltimore, the bride's brother, escorted her and gave her in marriage. The wedding gown was a princess robe of exquisite white satin, cut with a long train, the plainness being relieved by trimmings of princess lace. The soft tulle wedding veil fell in graceful folds to the hem of the long train. Instead of the usual bouquet, the bride carried a white prayerbook, from which the service was read. The maid of honor wore a gown of blossom pink net, trimmed with quantities of little ruching of the same material over a pink slip, and she carried a shower of pink sweet peas.

An informal dinner and reception followed the wedding at Crescent, pink and white flowers against a background of tall palms adding a pretty touch of color to the beautiful home. Mr. and Mrs. McMullin left Washington last night, and will sail immediately for Europe to spend the summer touring Germany, Holland, and the British Isles. Upon their return in the autumn they will take up their residence in Philadelphia, where Mr. McMullin is practicing law.

Miss Mary W. Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Price, of 209 Kalamazoo avenue, was married last evening at 8:30 o'clock to Mr. Joseph Nourse Hornbaker. The wedding took place at the residence of the bride, and was performed by Rev. J. M. Nourse. Only relatives and intimate friends were present. Profuse decorations beautified the entire first floor of the dwelling, palms, ferns, and sunflowers being in the window where the wedding party stood, the ceremony taking place in a bay window at an improvised altar. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary Brewer. The bride was given away by her father, and Dr. Frank W. Hornbaker, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Miss Florence Price was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Jessie Price and Miss Clara J. Harner.

The wedding gown was a soft, becoming creation of crepe de chine, made on modified Empire lines. Handsome lace formed the yoke and the tops of the sleeves, and the giraffe running up in the back was caught with tiny bows of white velvet. A huge cluster of lilies of the valley and Bride roses completed the very attractive costume. The maid of honor wore a white silk mousseline gown, with lace of Irish point, outlined with tiny shirtings, and carried a cluster of white sweet peas. The bridesmaids wore the daintiest of white French mull gowns, trimmed with quail feathers of Valenciennes lace, and sashes of moire tied in Empire effect. Their bouquets were of sweet peas, and they all wore wreaths of pink sweet peas and ferns.

A reception followed the ceremony for the bridal party and a few near relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Hornbaker leaving later in the evening for a wedding trip. Mrs. Hornbaker's going-away gown was a stylish costume of dark blue silk pongee, with a soft blouse of cream net, and a little hat of blue clip, mushroom shape, trimmed with shaded ribbon and roses.

Among the assistants at the reception were Miss Emily Millard, Miss Grace Alder, Miss Josephine Voight, and Miss Cordelia Grose, all schoolgirl friends of the bride. The out-of-town guests included Miss Nellie Price, of Baltimore; the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. A. A. Hynson, of Virginia; Mrs. A. B. Posey, of Maryland; and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Posey, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Meyer, wife of the Postmaster General, has been confined to her home for about a week, but expects to be sufficiently recovered by Thursday to leave Washington with her daughters for their summer home at Hamilton, Mass. Mr. Meyer will go to Hamilton Saturday.

The Austrian Ambassador, Baron Hengemüller, Capt. Hengemüller, naval attaché of the German Embassy, and Mrs. Hengemüller, and the Viscountess Aoki were among the passengers yesterday from New York to spend the summer abroad.

The marriage of Miss Annie Summers, daughter of Mrs. May A. Summers, of 41 Washington street, Anacostia, and Mr. William Leonard will take place next Wednesday, June 12. The bride is well-known in musical and social circles. She will be attended by the Misses Conner, Anderson, Frisholz, and Melhorn. After the ceremony the couple will take an extensive trip South.

Mrs. Eddy and Miss Katherine Eddy, who spent the winter here and were among the earliest to depart for Europe, have arrived at Berlin, where they are

WATCHES For Graduates.

THERE is no gift more highly esteemed than a good watch. Our watches are the best that can be produced, and are guaranteed to be free from any defect in material or construction.

GALT & BRO.,
Established Over a Century,
Jewellers, Silversmiths, Stationers,
1107 Pennsylvania Avenue.

DISTRICT CITIZENS VISIT JAMESTOWN

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE.

ished, partly through the general desire of the taxpayers who have suffered because of the evils of partisan politics in municipal affairs; partly through the unwillingness of Congress to subject the United States to taxation and appropriation by District voters; and, finally, because of the provision of a nonpartisan government by an executive commission of three, two of whom should specially represent the people of Washington, not having for three years previous claimed residence anywhere else, and who would represent the different views of the citizens, and be directly amenable to public opinion.

Automatic in Theory Only.
"In theory automatic, this form of government has turned out to be representative and democratic, as its makers designed, and the people of the District have had self-government by public opinion more complete and effective than is possible where partisan politics interferes with the operation of this opinion and corrupts municipal affairs."

"In practice, the Commissioners have represented the people in their administration and in their legislation, under the power delegated to them by Congress, and have welcomed all expressions of opinion by citizens, and have organized. They have represented the citizens also in dealing with Congress, sitting with the committees in charge of District affairs, preparing bills, or reporting upon bills referred to them by the Congressional committees, as is done in the case of all bills not proposed by the Commissioners, and also reporting to the President upon all District bills passed by Congress before he acts upon them. Every opportunity is given for the presentation of the needs of the national capital and the views of its citizens to Congress."

Big Business Corporation.
"The Senators and Representatives, and especially the chairmen of the committees dealing with District affairs, consider themselves the representatives of the District on the floor of the Senate and the House, and give each time and thought and effort to the District's interests. In all this they do not act as partisans, because they are not appealed to as partisans, since there is no political division among the people of the District in municipal affairs, and no 'bosses,' machines, or partisan newspapers. The Commissioners, Congress, and the citizens alike treat the District's business as business. The District of Columbia is simply the largest business corporation in the National Capital."

"There are arguments for and against a single executive head, as against a commission of three. The single head, preferably called governor, might be able to decide more quickly and act more readily. This could not be true, however, if he was hampered by a number of independent heads of departments whom he could not appoint nor remove, and who, by majority vote or by personal action, not to speak of intrigues, might seriously embarrass him, and would certainly greatly divide the responsibility for the general acts of the government."

Proven by Experience.
"In any event, the executive head ought, of course, to be a District man, and, as the present law says of the civil commissioners, one who has not claimed residence elsewhere for three years. The chief argument for a board of commissioners is that nearly thirty years' experience has shown that it makes a good executive, which can decide quickly and act readily, and at the same time can deliberate, especially in its determination of policies in the exercise of legislative and judicial functions, and that it secures consideration of all views and phases of a question."

"The Commissioners have represented all interests, and each having his own particular large circle of acquaintances, they have had in addition to the public expressions of opinion a wide private knowledge of the desires of citizens. The citizens have felt that they had better access for their opinions than if they had only one man to go to. Theoretically, there might be expectation of divided responsibility and confusion of authority in such a board, but in practice it does not work that way."

"It is twenty-nine years to-day since the adoption of the present form of government. Under it there has been marvelous progress. The population of the District of Columbia has doubled. The taxable value of real estate has trebled, and the value of personal property is at least four times greater. According to the report of the United States Census Bureau in 1906, on a comparison of statistics of the increase of wealth from 1900 to 1904, the wealth of the District in that period increased twelve per cent, or from $24,728,773 to $28,048,372."

"The bonded debt has been reduced over one-half. The number of pupils in the public schools has more than doubled; the number of teachers has almost quadrupled. Every municipal service has been developed and improved in proportion."

Nation Will Pay Taxes.
"We may well expect to see the day when the nation will not be content to pay only half of the National Capital expense. The time will surely come when it will surely pay all that is necessary over and above the yield of reasonable taxation upon the District taxpayers to make the National Capital all that it ought to be, whether its proportion be two-thirds or three-fourths of the whole amount. For the patriots of America, proud of their country and of its Capital, want to see Washington made perfect in every respect, and are willing to contribute generously to that end."

"In the fiscal year opening on the first of July, the people of the United States outside of the District of Columbia, assuming that there are ninety millions of them, will pay in round numbers $5,000,000 toward the National Capital expenses, or 5 1/10 cents per capita, while the 230,000 people of the District of Columbia will pay in round numbers $5,000,000, or $21 1/10 cents per capita. I believe that the ninety million, when they thoroughly understand the matter will gladly double or treble their contribution, without asking any more from the District taxpayers. Then shall the National Capital fully equal to country, glorifying the memory of George Washington, and offering its hospitality to all the world. In that day it may well take for its word of praise, as indeed, we may to-day, the inspired message which I believe that the ninety million, the first telegram over the first telegraph line: 'What hath God wrought.'"

Excursionists Leave Norfolk.
The Chamber of Commerce excursion boat left Norfolk to-night with about as tired a bunch of humanity as ever went up the Potomac to the Capital. Few had slept well on the down trip, and the day at Jamestown had been a continuous rush, much of it in the rain, over roads and sidewalks of choicest Virginia mud.

The boat left Jamestown nearly a half hour late, arrived at Norfolk at 5:15, where the Washington excursionists met by a delegation from the Norfolk Board of Trade and Business Men's Association and escorted to the headquarters at Plum and Atlantic streets, where they were entertained in a hospitable manner and served to light refreshments.

The reception committee was composed of William T. Anderson, president; James V. Torrey, H. S. Herman, D. S. Burwell, R. D. Parrott, George Pilcher, Col. W. W. Sule, Capt. H. B. Webers, W. W. Carter, and W. H. W. Sule.

The illumination of the Washington wharf to-night, the courtesy of Admiral Robley D.

DISTRICT CITIZENS VISIT JAMESTOWN

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE.

ished, partly through the general desire of the taxpayers who have suffered because of the evils of partisan politics in municipal affairs; partly through the unwillingness of Congress to subject the United States to taxation and appropriation by District voters; and, finally, because of the provision of a nonpartisan government by an executive commission of three, two of whom should specially represent the people of Washington, not having for three years previous claimed residence anywhere else, and who would represent the different views of the citizens, and be directly amenable to public opinion.

Automatic in Theory Only.
"In theory automatic, this form of government has turned out to be representative and democratic, as its makers designed, and the people of the District have had self-government by public opinion more complete and effective than is possible where partisan politics interferes with the operation of this opinion and corrupts municipal affairs."

"In practice, the Commissioners have represented the people in their administration and in their legislation, under the power delegated to them by Congress, and have welcomed all expressions of opinion by citizens, and have organized. They have represented the citizens also in dealing with Congress, sitting with the committees in charge of District affairs, preparing bills, or reporting upon bills referred to them by the Congressional committees, as is done in the case of all bills not proposed by the Commissioners, and also reporting to the President upon all District bills passed by Congress before he acts upon them. Every opportunity is given for the presentation of the needs of the national capital and the views of its citizens to Congress."

Big Business Corporation.
"The Senators and Representatives, and especially the chairmen of the committees dealing with District affairs, consider themselves the representatives of the District on the floor of the Senate and the House, and give each time and thought and effort to the District's interests. In all this they do not act as partisans, because they are not appealed to as partisans, since there is no political division among the people of the District in municipal affairs, and no 'bosses,' machines, or partisan newspapers. The Commissioners, Congress, and the citizens alike treat the District's business as business. The District of Columbia is simply the largest business corporation in the National Capital."

"There are arguments for and against a single executive head, as against a commission of three. The single head, preferably called governor, might be able to decide more quickly and act more readily. This could not be true, however, if he was hampered by a number of independent heads of departments whom he could not appoint nor remove, and who, by majority vote or by personal action, not to speak of intrigues, might seriously embarrass him, and would certainly greatly divide the responsibility for the general acts of the government."

Proven by Experience.
"In any event, the executive head ought, of course, to be a District man, and, as the present law says of the civil commissioners, one who has not claimed residence elsewhere for three years. The chief argument for a board of commissioners is that nearly thirty years' experience has shown that it makes a good executive, which can decide quickly and act readily, and at the same time can deliberate, especially in its determination of policies in the exercise of legislative and judicial functions, and that it secures consideration of all views and phases of a question."

"The Commissioners have represented all interests, and each having his own particular large circle of acquaintances, they have had in addition to the public expressions of opinion a wide private knowledge of the desires of citizens. The citizens have felt that they had better access for their opinions than if they had only one man to go to. Theoretically, there might be expectation of divided responsibility and confusion of authority in such a board, but in practice it does not work that way."

"It is twenty-nine years to-day since the adoption of the present form of government. Under it there has been marvelous progress. The population of the District of Columbia has doubled. The taxable value of real estate has trebled, and the value of personal property is at least four times greater. According to the report of the United States Census Bureau in 1906, on a comparison of statistics of the increase of wealth from 1900 to 1904, the wealth of the District in that period increased twelve per cent, or from $24,728,773 to $28,048,372."

"The bonded debt has been reduced over one-half. The number of pupils in the public schools has more than doubled; the number of teachers has almost quadrupled. Every municipal service has been developed and improved in proportion."

Nation Will Pay Taxes.
"We may well expect to see the day when the nation will not be content to pay only half of the National Capital expense. The time will surely come when it will surely pay all that is necessary over and above the yield of reasonable taxation upon the District taxpayers to make the National Capital all that it ought to be, whether its proportion be two-thirds or three-fourths of the whole amount. For the patriots of America, proud of their country and of its Capital, want to see Washington made perfect in every respect, and are willing to contribute generously to that end."

"In the fiscal year opening on the first of July, the people of the United States outside of the District of Columbia, assuming that there are ninety millions of them, will pay in round numbers $5,000,000 toward the National Capital expenses, or 5 1/10 cents per capita, while the 230,000 people of the District of Columbia will pay in round numbers $5,000,000, or $21 1/10 cents per capita. I believe that the ninety million, when they thoroughly understand the matter will gladly double or treble their contribution, without asking any more from the District taxpayers. Then shall the National Capital fully equal to country, glorifying the memory of George Washington, and offering its hospitality to all the world. In that day it may well take for its word of praise, as indeed, we may to-day, the inspired message which I believe that the ninety million, the first telegram over the first telegraph line: 'What hath God wrought.'"

Excursionists Leave Norfolk.
The Chamber of Commerce excursion boat left Norfolk to-night with about as tired a bunch of humanity as ever went up the Potomac to the Capital. Few had slept well on the down trip, and the day at Jamestown had been a continuous rush, much of it in the rain, over roads and sidewalks of choicest Virginia mud.

The boat left Jamestown nearly a half hour late, arrived at Norfolk at 5:15, where the Washington excursionists met by a delegation from the Norfolk Board of Trade and Business Men's Association and escorted to the headquarters at Plum and Atlantic streets, where they were entertained in a hospitable manner and served to light refreshments.

The reception committee was composed of William T. Anderson, president; James V. Torrey, H. S. Herman, D. S. Burwell, R. D. Parrott, George Pilcher, Col. W. W. Sule, Capt. H. B. Webers, W. W. Carter, and W. H. W. Sule.

The illumination of the Washington wharf to-night, the courtesy of Admiral Robley D.

DULIN & MARTIN CO.

—Useful and —Beautiful

Articles Suitable For Brides

EVERY department of this store offers its quota of wedding gifts, and in every instance the gift is one that will be appreciated.

If you contemplate purchasing a gift, inspect the following stocks.

Decorated China—Complete services, as well as fancy sets and separate pieces for various uses. Rich Cut Glass from the leading American makers—all the newest and handsomest cuttings.

Sterling Silver—Distinctive designs in complete services and separate pieces for every table use.

Art Pottery—Embracing all well-known American and Imported Wares in a great variety of objects, both useful and ornamental.

Lamps and Electrolights—A showing that's notable for diversity of designs and high artistic merit.

We handle but one quality—THE BEST—and our prices for this quality are THE LOWEST.

Dulin & Martin Co.

Pottery, Porcelain, China, Glass, Silver, &c.

1215 F St. and 1214-18 G St.

Evans, was greatly enjoyed by the excursionists aboard the Chamber of Commerce boat leaving Norfolk at 7:45. The line of ships was brightly illuminated, searchlights flashing in every direction, sometimes as many as twenty of them being concentrated on Newport News at one time.

The line of war ships to-night lies at anchor in Hampton Roads extending for about two miles east and west. American ships are nearest the shore, battle ships, cruisers, and dispatch boats lying about 20 yards apart. Inside are the torpedo boats and destroyers. Outside the American squadron are ships of foreign countries, and ugly looking "hounds of the sea" they are.

Searchlights Flashed.
To-night as the excursion boat passed the bands played the national air and the men aboard were lined up on the side at attention. Nearly half an hour was consumed in passing the flotilla, and searchlights followed the tired excursionists far up the bay flashing "Flighting Boats" good-night just before 9 o'clock.

There was little sleep or rest while the boat was covering the seventy miles between Norfolk and the mouth of the Potomac, but in the smoother waters the Washingtonians sank to sleep in the consciousness of a strenuous day's work well done.

ARMY AND NAVY.

Army Orders.

Capt. CHARLES B. CLARK, Fourteenth Infantry, report to commanding general, Department of the East, for duty until August 28.

Capt. CHARLES G. DWYER, postmaster, to temporary duty, office postmaster, Washington, D. C., June 12.

Capt. CHARLES W. FENTON, postmaster, from Washington, June 25, to Boston.

Retirement of Col. JAMES B. QUINN, Corps of Engineers, from active service, Washington, D. C., June 12.

Capt. EVAN H. HUMPHREY, quartermaster, relieved as depot and purchasing commissary at Honolulu.

Capt. LEONARD ENGLAND, Coast Artillery Corps, to Fifth Corps, Coast Artillery Corps, to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., June 12.

Following enlisted men, Signal Corps, to Fort Leavenworth for temporary duty prior to assignment to stations in Alaska: First-class Private STITH G. MCCUTCHEN and Private FRED C. RICE, Fort Omaha, and First-class Private AXEL T. HOLM, Fort Wood.

Major JAMES B. GOE, Nineteenth Infantry, from San Francisco to Fort Reno, pending arrival of battalion of Nineteenth Infantry, to be stationed there.

Capt. IRA L. FREDENDALL, quartermaster, from San Francisco to Boston.

Navy Orders.

Lieut. Commander H. BODMAN, to additional duty as inspector in charge Third Lightship District, Charleston, July 1.

Lieut. Commander M. E. REED, detached Chicago, to Charleston.

Lieut. Commander T. W. KINKADE, detached Charleston, home, wait orders.

Lieut. R. STONE, detached Naval Academy, June 20, to Albany.

Lieut. H. T. WINSTON, detached Charleston, to Princeton.

Lieut. F. MORRISON, detached Princeton, to Chicago.

Ensign A. B. REED, to Charleston.

Midshipmen T. H. SUMMERTON, C. HUMPHREY, and A. M. COHEN, detached Hartford, home, wait orders.

Medical Director D. DICKINSON, to additional duty as member Naval Retiring Board, Washington.

Assistant Assistant Paymaster D. C. CROWELL, detached Navy Yard, Norfolk, June 22, to Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Navy Department.

Passed Assistant Paymaster E. H. TRICOU, to charge commissary department, torpede headquarters, Navy Yard, June 22.

Chief Gunner F. H. WHITNEY, detached Navy Yard, New York, to New Jersey.

Warrent Machinist L. A. McCLELLAND, from Seattle to Nereid when commissioned.

Warrent Machinist J. DEXTER, detached Navy Yard, New York, to New Jersey.

Miss W. G. SMITH, retired, died at Naval Hospital, Annapolis, June 9.